What is the Security code number?

Most credit cards carry a security code number, and our bank now requires us to enter this number when processing transactions.

VISA and MasterCard: the security code number is the last set of digits (3 or 4 digits) of the number printed on the back of the card, usually in the signature strip.

American Express cards: the security code has four digits, and is printed above the right-hand side of the embossed card number on the front of the card.
